

The club has also conducted cruises and cookouts, Christmas trips, cruised to the LeMay museum in Tacoma WA and the Bird Museum in Sagle ID. Members do help one another out with projects and/or work on their cars. They've held car shows and BBQ for the Senior residents of Life Care Center in Post Falls.

With funds from Car D' Lane no longer available, in July 2018 the club brought back the Rod Run in Post Falls with a Friday night cruise and Saturday car show. The venue was the Tedder Business park which has a large area of paved parking available. The Friday cruise of some 80 cars visited six local businesses where the cruisers could see what the businesses offered and pick up some "freebies." After dark a movie was shown outdoors on a portable screen. Saturday's show had over 160 cars, a very good turnout for a first time show. Registrants received a nice goody bag. Food vendors, beer garden, and crafts vendors were there. Recorded and live music was presented alternately during the day. For the young people tricycle races and water balloon tosses were held. Many public attendees brought their children making this truly a family event and helped expose the younger generation to the car hobby. The club was quite pleased with the response from the car community and public for this first show of their "new era" of a car event. For next year I'm sure they'll build on what they learned and it will be even better.

The club is an active member of the Inland Northwest Car Club

NICCC is represented in the Holiday Lighting Parade in Coeur d' Alene. Annually, their members provide Christmas presents and funding to Children's Village in Coeur d' Alene.

The club meets on the third Tuesday of each month at Council (INCCC), Specialty Equipment Market Association (SEMA), and the SEMA Action Network. In 2004, the club formed the Gene Fuson Memorial Scholarship Fund in memory of one of their founding members. The fund is an endowment administered by North Idaho College.

In addition to conducting the Rod Run, they participate each year in the INCCC Downtown Scholarship Show, and attend many other club events in the area.
